DETAILED ACTION

Claims 2-4 and 22-26 have been canceled. Claims 1, 6, 7, 11, 12, 15-18, 20 and 21 have been amended. Claims 1, 5-21 are pending and under consideration.

Claims 1 and 5-21 are objected to for failing to conform to the Sequence Rules. The sequence recited for SEQ ID NO:1 in claims 1, 11 and 12 does not match the CRF or Sequence Listing for SEQ ID NO:1.

Appropriate Correction is Required.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Danik et al (PNAS, 1991, vol. 88, pp. 8577-8581) in view of Kapron et al (Protein Science, 1997, vol. 6, pp. 2120-2133) and Maloy and Coligan ('Selection of Immunogenic Peptides for antisera Production', In: Current Protocols in Immunology, 1991, pp. 9.3.1-9.3.5).

Claim 11 is drawn in part to an immunogenic epitope comprising SEQ ID NO:4. It is noted that claim 11 does not require SEQ ID NO:4 to be glycosylated.

Danik et al teach that human gliomas express high levels of mRNA related to rat testicular sulfated glycoprotein 2, which is also known as clusterin. Danik et al do not teach an immunogenic epitope of clusterin that comprises SEQ ID NO:4.

Karpon et al teach the sequence of clusterin alpha and beta. (page 2127).

Maloy and Coligan teach the selection of a peptide from the C-terminus of a protein as an immunogen (page 9.3.2, under the heading "Selection of a C-Terminal Peptide"). Maloy and Coligan teach that the length of the peptide of about 15 residues can be used to make an antisera that will react with the native protein (page 9.3.3, under the heading "Selection of the Length of the Peptide").

It would have been prima facie obvious at the time the claimed invention was made to take the last 20 amino acid residues from the clusterin beta chain. One of skill in the art would have been motivated to do so by the teachings of Maloy and Coligan on the ability of a peptide with as many as 35 residues to elicit antisera which binds to the native protein. One of skill in the art would have been motivated to make a binding agent which bound to the native clusterin because Danik et al teach the over expression of the mRNA encoding clusterin in human gliomas. One of skill in the art would want to know if the corresponding protein is also over expressed.

Claim 11 is rejected. Claims 1 and 5-21 are objected to.

All other rejections and objections as set forth in the prior office action are withdrawn in light of applicant's amendments.
